Good Luck Gentlemen. May your 1938 season be one of great victories. And speaking of good luck, it's always good luck for motorists who visit any of the ten convenient Grogan Stations in Shreveport. Here you find "the finest gasoline modern science and equipment can produce" . . . those famous Fisk Tires and Marathon Motor Oils . . . May we serve you, too?

Good Luck, Centenary!

Here's Hoping You Mow'Em Down From Beginning of Season To End!

We're backing you 100 per cent for a Bigger and Better 1938-39 . . . but athletically speaking, we can be nothing more than sideline rooters, try as we will.

Economically, however, it's another story! When there's money to be saved, and collegiate budgets to be stretched, Sears is right there on the 2-yard line, ready to mark up another score!

Sears is at the Service of Centenary Students at Any Time!

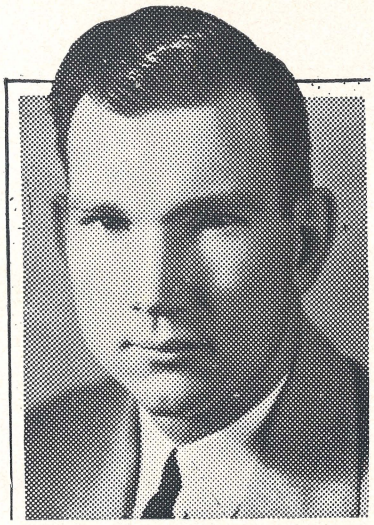
Trainer "Hoot" Gibson



Coach Elmer Smith

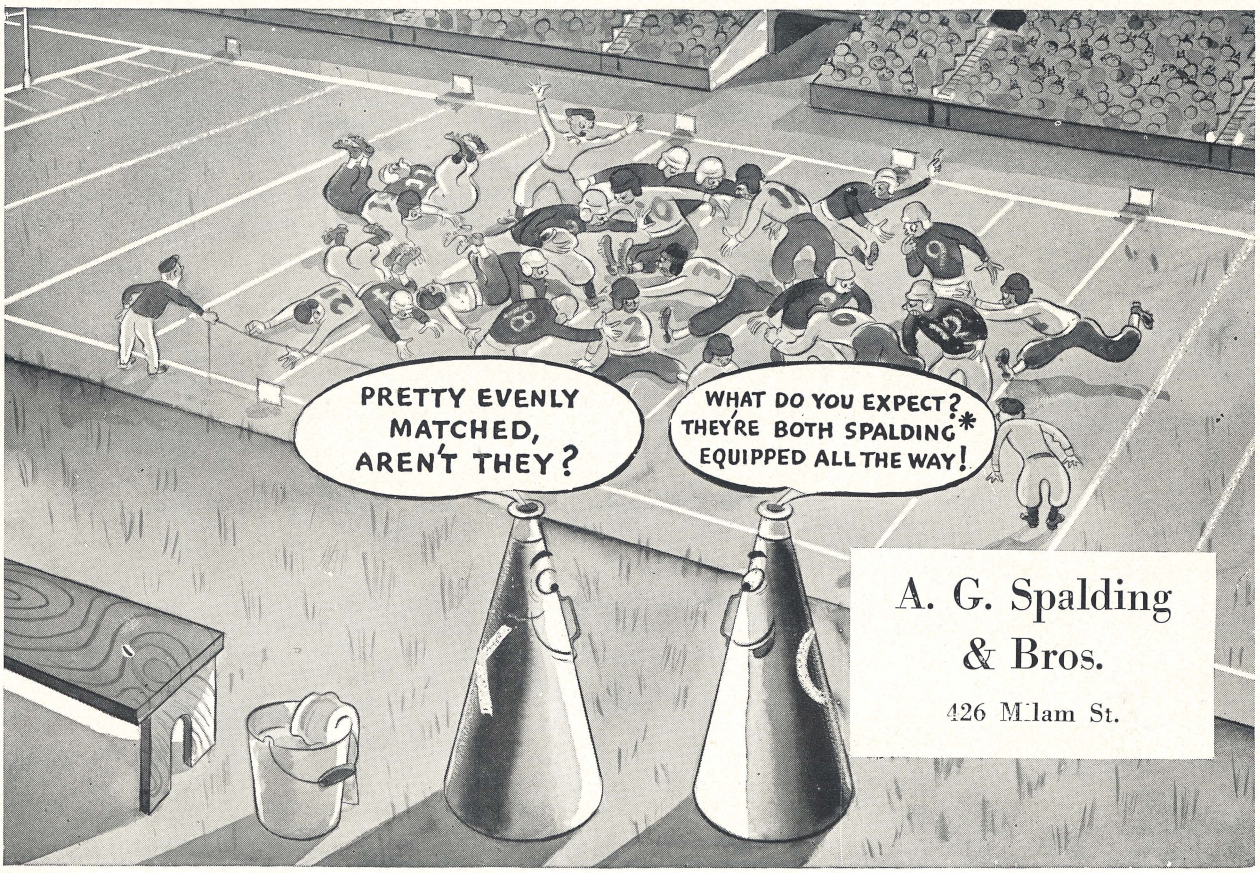
ELMER SMITH—Stardom on the gridiron, in basketball, track and baseball preceded Elmer Smith's association with Centenary as its backfield coach. Versatile to a degree, Smith participated in all of the major sports at Hendrix college, his alma mater, won four letters in football, four basketball, three in track and three in baseball before branching out briefly as a professional baseball player with Little Rock and Pine Bluff.

Abandoning professional baseball pursuits in favor of a coaching career, he coached at Hamburg High school for three years and was a member of the Hendrix coaching staff the next three years where his success attracted the attention of the Centenary athletic department and he was added to the Gent varsity group in the spring of 1935.

TOM COBB—Three years of college and four years of professional football were crammed into the competitive career of Tom Cobb, Centenary line coach, before he became connected with the Gent staff in 1936.

Starting out as a coach at Waggoner (Ok'a.) High school where he remained three years, Cobb shifted to Northeastern Teachers college where he remained two years before joining the Centenary staff.

MARVIN (HOOT) GIBSON—Trainer and property man are some of the jobs in which Marvin (Hoot) Gibson functions at Centenary college. He likewise manicures the athletic lawns or sees that it is done, repairs uniforms, supervises just about everything that goes on in the locker and equipment rooms and generally makes himself one of the most useful persons about the premises.



PRETTY EVENLY MATCHED, AREN'T THEY?
WHAT DO YOU EXPECT? THEY'RE BOTH SPALDING* EQUIPPED ALL THE WAY!

HEAD COACH

Stability is emphasized in the Centenary college football coaching staff that is again headed by Curtis Parker.

Parker is in the thirteenth year of his association with Gentleman football affairs and in his fifth as head coach; Elmer Smith, backfield mentor, is in his third season at Centenary, and Tom Cobb, line tutor, is in his third season in that capacity.

Parker is boss of the Centenary athletic program in every particular in that he is coach both of the football and basketball teams, the two sports that are emphasized at the school, and likewise supervises intra-mural athletic affairs.

After graduating from Arkansas where he starred in football, basketball and track, Parker came to Centenary as its freshman coach and has been connected with athletics at the school in a coaching capacity ever since, with uniform success in both the football and basketball fields. He served for three years as freshman coach, was elevated to assistant varsity coach after that period and then to the head coachship, a position he has filled for the last five years, meanwhile keeping Centenary pigskin affairs on a high plane.

Parker lettered in football, basketball and track in Arkansas, received honorable mention as an all-Southwestern conference end in 1925, and was selected on various all-conference basketball teams in his junior and senior years. Parker has produced or help produce Centenary football teams that have kept the Gents in the big-time gridiron swim, and in addition he coaches S. I. A. A. conference basketball teams in 1931 and 1933, and produced in 1934 a basketball team that was undefeated in conference competition.

SIT DOWN!

Down in front, Mister! We want to tackle you, anyway. You may be a darned good football fan, but you're a poor excuse for a husband if you don't understand why gloom clings around your wife like fog in Frisco. She wants some new furniture before the guests arrive for that next big game. And you won't need to kill any pigs, plow under any cotton or float a PWA loan to get the money—we'll sell you on credit. Furthermore, we'll refund your money if you can buy it elsewhere for less!

You Don't Need Water after Drinking

When you finish a bottle of 7-Up, thirst is gone. There's no sticky taste left that you have to wash out with a glass of water. 7-Up Quenches thirst. It floods that hot spot and leaves a fresh, clean taste.

FRESHMEN COACHES

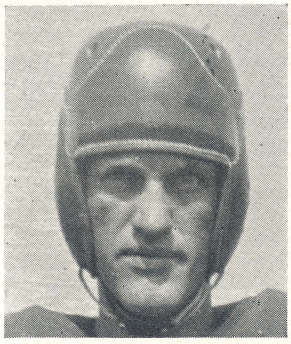
Langford Huddleston

LANGFORD HUDDLESTON

Although he isn't carrying the mail any more for the Centenary college football team, Langford Huddleston is still an influence in Maroon and White football affairs as one of the coaches of the Gent freshman team.

Brilliant throughout his three-year career as a varsity player, the Dumas, Ark., athlete was also a power in Centenary basketball affairs.

Amazingly fast and a shifty runner, Huddleston contributed yardage in material amounts to the Gents in his competitive football years and his because he is a close student of the game and an earnest workman, he was rewarded with an assignment to help coach the frosh after completing his eligibility to play.



John Lingo

JOHN LINGO

Football ability and the analytical talents of John Lingo were recognized by the Centenary college athletic system when the former Gent football and basketball player was added to the staff as one of the freshman coaches.

As a junior college graduate, Lingo's varsity competition at Centenary was limited to two years, but he was impressive in both sports in which he participated. In football he alternated between a halfback and quarter, and in basketball, in which he was particularly brilliant, he played both at guard and at a forward.

His home is at Miami, Okla.

Unanimously Chosen the All-American Fuel

Experts everywhere agree that Natural Gas meets every requirement as the outstanding performer in the field of cooking, water-heating, refrigeration and house-heating. Industry also casts its vote for gas because of its speed, ease of control and ability to perform under any condition. Like all good champions it is fast, clean, available instantly and easy to work with. Whether its for baking a cake or running a factory, choose Natural Gas.
